CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Two moth-19, confessed, according to death of Mrs. Franks and her children if the money was not paid. The boys said they had

They Guarded Still

Federal agents ran into two veritable Amazons when they attempted to confiscate a still on a farm near St. Paul. The girls, Florence Friernuth, 15, and her sister, Mrs. Eadie Friernuth, had to be disarmed, the raider reported, before the still could be seized. The girls' father, Alex Friernuth, was arrested as the operator of the "moonshine" plant. After unloading the guns, the agents permitted the girls to pose with their artillery.

Culprits "Tell The World" of Their Offense

Associated Press
TSINGTAO, China, Aug. 21 — The park police here demonstrated a new and effective mode of punishment for vandals recently, when two men were caught stealing flowers.

The officers took the culprits to the main boulevard and made them kneel. To the prodding of police rifles they were made to shout to all passers by why they were being thus treated.

For 15 minutes they were compelled to shout: "I took what did not belong to me and promise never to do it again," while they were made to hold the stolen flowers aloft.

TOBACCO FIRM MAKES CHARGE

Liggett and Meyers Charge Competitors With Unfair Tactics in Business

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.
Charges of unfair methods in competition were made yesterday by the federal trade commission in a complaint against the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, the American Tobacco Company, the P.
Lorillard Company and the West Virginia Wholesale Grocery Association Company of Parkersburg.
The complaints allege that the association entered into an agreement to fix uniform prices at which tobacco products should be sold by the respondent jobbers and their competitors. It is further charged that the tobacco manufacturers named aided the alleged conspiracy by refusing to sell their products to certain jobbers who sold goods at less than the agreed price.

The companies named are given 30 days in which to answer.

cracked, startled in the court

"you would not strike a dog four times on the head without giving him some chance."

"Bobby was given no chance at all. He was weak, weighed only 80 pounds, and was 14 years old.
But like every boy he would have fought if he had seen the blow coming."

"So he was struck from behind four cowardly, dastardly blows with a carefully taped cold chisel, and then one of the other of these fiends dragged him into the back of the automobile and spunged out his life."

Times Seeking Princess of Kentucky for Exposition

The Louisville Times of today's issue carries the following effusion which should be of interest to the legion of pretty girls in Middles-boro:

Princess of Kentucky!

There is such a title, and there is a young woman entitled to it.

Morover, the Princess of Kentucky may ascend the throne of Petrolia and reign as queen.

But the Princess first must be found!

The Louisville Times has been asked to find her, and it has promised Mayor H. F. Newblock of Tulsa, Okla., that it will send the most beautiful girl in the state to the International Petroleum Exposition, to be held in Tulsa, October 2 to 11.

All expenses of the Princess will be paid—railroad fare, hotels and incidentals. Her gowns will be furnished and there will be a festive week of receptions, balls and entertainment. A mammoth parade will be held in Tulsa and the Kentucky Princess will grace the state's float—a gorgeous $1,000 production of a scene artist. And, to conclude it all, the Queen of Pe-trolia will be chosen among the seventeen Princesses sent to the exposition by oil-producing states.

The Times therefore wants to find the most beautiful girl in Kentucky. Any girl in the state is eligible to compete for this title and its attendant honors. To enter the contest she has only to send her latest and best photograph to "The Beauty Editor," care of The Times.

Write name and address on sheet of paper and inclose with photograph. Do not write name or address on the photograph itself, as the judge must not know the names of any of the candidates. All photographs will be numbered in the order of receipt, and the judges will know the candidates only by number.

The contest to select the Princess is on now. Young women who would compete for the rich honors must act quickly, though.

No entries will be accepted after September 15, when the judges will meet to select the Kentucky Princess.

Immediately after the judges conclude their work the name of the Kentucky Princess will be announced. And a week later she will leave for Tulsa, and the oil exposition, accompanied by Miss Marian Green, society editor of The Times. Miss Green will be with her during the entire trip to Tulsa and return.

HERRIOT REPORTS ON REPARATIONS

Premier Makes Report to Chamber of Deputies—Ruh Question Is First.

Associated Press

PARIS, Aug. 21 — Premier Herriot put up the Dawes reparations plan and London agreement making it effective before the French Chamber of Deputies today.

"I for my part have chosen but nothing final has been done and Parliament in its turn can choose," he stated.

Evacuation of the Ruhr, the premier said, dominated everything at the international conference at London. He had chosen between the establishment of international enterprise and continuance of isolated action.

The German delegates at London, made plain that the Reichsplan would not accept the Dawes plan unless the Ruhr is evacuated, the premier asserted. Concluding his remarks, Herriot said the London conference was only the first step against war and that "We shall very soon have to pursue work thus commenced before the League of Nations."

WEATHER FORCES PRESIDENT REST

Failed to Keep Engagement to Help Neighbor With Hay
Because of Rain.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 21 — The weather joined President Coolidge in another successful search for rest at his father's home here today. Rain this afternoon preventing him from keeping an engagement to help a neighbor whose farm

Edward Blanchard, whose farm adjoins that of John Coolidge, the President's father, called at the home this morning, and when Mr.
Coolidge learned that Mr. Blanchard was having difficulty because of sickness in the family in getting in the crops, volunteered to help out for a while this afternoon.

Shortly after noon rain started and the family was forced to leave the front porch for seats about the stove in the living room.
As on previous days, Mr. Coolidge remained close at home, receiving but a few intimate friends. This morning he dispatched a telegram of congratulations to Charles G.
Dawes, his running mate, on the latter's speech of acceptance. Short walks about the home, and attention to some correspondence, comprised the rest of the daily program.

Mrs. Coolidge was accompanied by Mrs. Sarah Pollard, Mr. Cool-idge's aunt, of Proctorville, Vt., to the cemetery this morning to place flowers brought by Mrs. Pollard, on the graves of the President's mother, sister and son.

ty to construct a line between Taycase being approximately 125

Banker Says Advertising is Cure for Business Failures

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 21.—In all the failures of retail merchants during the last three years, not one "advertised religiously," T. K. Kelley, Minneapolis banker and business man, declared here yesterday in addressing the value of newspaper advertising to delegates attending the annual Southern Merchants Retail conference.

"The public," he asserted, "has unlimited confidence in newspaper advertising and the importance of this feature of modern business can not be over-estimated."

T. E. Warringer, of Lawrenceville, Va., president of the conference, expressed the opinion that business conditions throughout the country have recorded a distinct improvement; and in another part of his address, also emphasized the importance of newspaper advertising.

Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, is scheduled to address the conference.

Retail merchants from Georgia, West Virginia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama and Virginia are in attend-

ATTORNEY OF STATE FLAYS BOY SLAYERS

Failure to Hide Body of Franks Caused Detection.

"DEVILISH PLAN"

State's Attorney Makes Strong Argument for Maximum Punishment of Boy
Slayers.

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Failure to hide sufficiently the body of Robert Franks was the breaking point in the plot of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, according to the state's analysis of the crime given today before Judge Custer in an impassioned denunciation.

The state's attorney declared that for one unguarded act, the murderers could not have been found out in a hundred thousand years. He described the attempts to obtain ransom from Mr. Franks, branding the whole thing as a cold intellectual plan, devilish in its deliberation.

VIRGINIA COAL OUTPUT AT PEAK

Production for Southwest Virginia Fields for Week Indicates Decrease.

BIG STONE GAP, Aug. 21.— The output of coal in the Southwest Virginia field has apparently reached its peak of production for the present time according to a report of the Virginia Coal Operators' Association for week ending August 19th which shows a slight decrease of 3,369 tons from that of the previous week.

A much larger output is looked for according to reports received from different parts of the field where it is said coal activity is gaining rapidly in production. The highest production for any week this year was 194,571 tons an average of 154,277 tons. The output for this year so far is practically a million tons short of that for the years of 1923 and 1922, but it shows a million more for the year of 1921.

There was 7,393 tons of coke crease of 782 tons over the previous period. Coal to coke 12-207 tons.

Following is the amount of tonnage produced on the different railroad lines: Norfolk & Western, 23 mines reporting, 21,218 tons; Norton & Northern, 3 mines reporting, 1,125 tons; Interstate, 17 mines reporting, 62,030 tons; Southern, 14 mines reporting, 39,105 tons;
C. C. & O., 14 mines reporting, 38, 115 tons.

Loss in tonnage is charged to the following causes: Labor shortage, 2,087 tons; mine disability, 4,056 tons; no market, 84,075 tons.

TEACHER' PAY CUT EFFECTIVE

Minimum Salary Is $67.50, Maximum $85—Pay Day In September.

The act will be applied to the salaries of county school teachers this year according to Superintendent Cammie Wilson. The ten per cent reduction in salaries ordered by the fiscal court will be effective on the first pay day which will be the second Saturday next month.

Superintendent Wilson explained that the cut really amounts to only about eight per cent because of the surplus fund which the school board had created.

"The minimum salary paid to county teachers is $67.50 per month, while the maximum is $85 with the reduction."

Robed Figure Is Sensation on Tuesday Night

Middleboro is emulating Shakespeare's dreamers day by day.

The first episode was that of the "Devil's broth," masquerading under the name of moonshine. Now it is a ghost, such as the erratic Hauke saw, one that could well "spoke the matter and remained locks stand apart like the quills on the fretful porcupine."

Residents along Exeter avenue were somewhat startled by the appearance of a ghostly figure, draped in white, late Tuesday night.
Frequent cases of masquerading in that section gave a very material aspect to the case, however, and the citizens were immediately up in arms.

They chased the alleged ghost to the vacant place on the south side of Exeter avenue and a number of shots were fired in the direction of the white-robed figure, but apparently without effect. The police were called but did not arrive on the scene until the masquerader had disappeared.

JEFFRIES, FLEECE KIWANIS SPEAKERS

Committee Appointed for District Meet—Entertain Press
Delegates.

Judge James H. Jeffries, of Pine ville, strongly advocated the bond issue in an address at the Kiwanis luncheon today. He also urged a greater cooperation between Middleboro and Pineville, not only of the Kiwanis clubs, but also the general public.

Hugh B. Fleece, of Louisville, former resident of Middleboro, spoke eulogistically of the climate here, of the town and particularly of the Cumberland hotel, stating that he had never had better meals at any hostelry.

A committee was named to stimulate interest in Ky.-Tenn district meeting at Johnson City in October and to get up a large attendance for the event. C. G.
Smith was made chairman of the committee while P. M. Parsons and Dr. T. T. Gibson are the other members.

It was decided to have a Ladies' Night, Friday, September 12, to entertain the delegates to the East Tennessee Press Association which will be held at Harrogate September 11-12-13. Dr. J. P. Edmonds will be chairman of that meeting.
The committee to work out arrangements with Robert L. Kincaid, of Harrogate, consists of H. C.
Chappell, Warren Cunningham, and Warren P. Rash.

Judge T. G. Anderson was chairman of the meeting. H. H. Overton drew the attendance prize. All declared it was one of the most enjoyable meetings the club has had for some time.

CAMPAIGN IS ANNOUNCED OF WORKER PARTY

Foster Will Appeal to Industrialists of Country.

AGAINST CAPITAL

Gitlow, Vice Nominee, Will Head Communist Groups—To Oppose the LaFollette Crowd.

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Active campaigners for the Worker's Party ticket, with William Z. Foster of Chicago for president, and Benjamin Gitlow of New York City for vice-president, will wage their fight almost exclusively in the large industrial centers of the country, their headquarters here has announced.

Mr. Gitlow will head a dozen prominent communist speakers who will start on a nation-wide tour this month, carrying "the Communist message to the workers and farmers." Wherever it is possible to get presidential electors on the ballots, a state campaign will be opened. In Illinois their candidate for governor is William F.
Dunn, Chicago.

According to the official program, the party plan is "to run candidates nationally, in the states, and locally, under the name of the Worker's Party, candidates on the ballot, and to include the nomination of presidential electors in every state in which we can get on the ballot. The national office will issue a series of campaign leaflets which will be distributed by the party organizations in millions of copies."

The party headed by LaFollette as well as the Democratic and Republican parties will draw fire of the Worker's Party speakers. "It is the supreme duty of the Workers' Party," the central executive committee has announced, "to rise against the petty bourgeois alliance which is misleading the workers.
LaFollette is a menace to the labor movement. Part of the organizations participating in the June 17 convention are themselves inflected with LaFolletteism and will be swept along in the wake of the La Follette petty bourgeois progressive movement."

"The alignment in the election will be the capitalist Republican and Democratic parties, the La Follette progressive, petty, bourgeois party, and the Worker's Party raising the slogan of working class action on a Communist program against the capitalist and against the petty bourgeois mis-leaders of the workers."

Burglar Enters Home While Widow Is Away

While members of the family were attending the tent meeting on Cumberland avenue last night, a marauder entered the home of Mrs.
Irene Mosley, widow, near the "Y." Mrs. Mosley saw a light in her house when she returned home after the meeting. The burglar made his escape before assistance arrived. Nothing of value was taken though the house was thoroughly ransacked and the effects were found in a condition of disarray.

Watch Destruction Of Another Still

Local citizens gathered again in front of Magistrate C. G. Smith's office yesterday afternoon to witness the destruction of a moonshine still by Constable J. A.
Thompson. The copper residuum destroyed where another was battered beyond repair on the day previous.

The still was nearly twice as large as the first one. Constable Thompson said deputies and Prohibition Agent Hays Green found it north of the Low Ash mine yesterday afternoon. No arrests were made.

FOOLISH CODE KENTUCKY

Six Kentuckians killed within two days; again the news goes wherever the wires go that life in Kentucky is held cheap; once more the State must suffer because there is an element in its citizenship that accepts the code which requires a killing to close a dispute. A good many Kentuckians are so afraid of being thought afraid that they are impelled to shoot when there is no occasion for bloodshed.

In the case of the shooting of three in connection with a raid on a moonshine still, it may be assumed that the men who resisted arrest had made up their minds that it would be cowardly to submit to arrest. In many instances of the kind the idea of surrendering to a representative of the law is abhorrent to the law breaker.

The fight at the church near Poor Fork resulted in three deaths, following a quarrel. Details are lacking but it may be assumed that the quarrel started on a triviality and at no time reached a stage where a fist fight would not have been a sufficient safety valve for the anger engendered. But the participants had armed themselves with pistols and therefore yielded to the hot impulse to kill.

It has been pointed out time after time that the man who gains the reputation of being a dangerous person is in greater danger than the individual who is of a peaceful disposition. The killer's reputation becomes a challenge flaunted in the face of every other killer. Under the code, not only in Kentucky but over the country, the bad man is in danger of assassination at the hands of those who fear to attack him in the open. He is in danger also of the charge of murder, growing out of using his pistol to maintain his reputation.—Louisville Times.

When Big Stone Gap and Middlesboro Gets Together

(From The Big Stone Gap Post)
Big Stone Gap has its Court and Middlesboro its Kinnard.

Little did the Kiwanis Club dream that on Middleboro's broad and spacious Cumberland avenue the lights of a luxurious limousine shone to the wee hours of the early morning while a silver tongue insurance salesman and Kiwanian wrote unnumbered letters to neighboring clubs requesting a "get together" picnic "half way" between the two cities for the purpose of promoting friendly relations. Little did the Kiwanis Club know that the same well-known Kiwanian was "suddenly called away on urgent business." The local Kiwanis Club, but the Middlesboro club knew less.

Accepting the letter in good faith, President Wampler appointed a committee to represent the local club, but as the time for the so-called picnic arrived, business called the members elsewhere leaving no one to go. President Wampler and Bob Moser immediately sent out an emergency call to all Gap Kiwanians. To uphold the loyalty of the local club, members reluctantly placed business before business last Thursday, and out officials broke important business engagements, drug stores were placed in the hands of employees and grocerymen explained to "friend wife" why it was impossible to attend dinner engagements previously made.

To make everything perfect, the famous Kiwanis quartette was taken along and President Wampler spent the time between Big Stone Gap and Rose Hill in preparing his

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

(By Harry B. Hunt)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Notes at the Coolidge notification. Continental Memorial Hall, home of the Daughters of the American Revolution. First time the G. O. P. ever asked the ladies to provide a political hall. Exclusive sort of place. Only 2,000 can get in. Folks who don't hold tickets, however, can stand on the curb outside and listen to the loud speaker.

Looks like a society night. Lovely ladies in evening gowns. Tuxedos. Not so many, though. Senator Jim Watson in a gray sack suit. No put on about Jim. He knows the value of baggy trousers in politics. Musicians from the Marine Band, in their red and gold garb, and color and harmony as the elect gather. Join the Marines. Always the first at a fight!

William Butler of Boston, the party's new political impresario, bustles about the stage as the crowd gathers and the members of the notification committee take their seats. It's a big night for William.

Half a dozen women on the committee, which has seats on the stage.

Mrs. A. T. Hertz of Kentucky, named by Butler to take the place of Harriet Taylor Upton as head of the woman's section of the national committee, occupies a box with a party of friends. Mrs. Upton seems to be absent.

Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, president general of the D. A. R., occupies another box; Mrs. Mondell and friends a third. That vacant box to the right of the stage is being held for Mrs. Coolidge. Wonder when she'll come.

The big clock on the front of the gallery says 7:55. Seats are about all filled. The warning on the tickets—"seats positively will not be held after 7:50"—seems to have done its work. Show scheduled to start at eight bells. Won't be long now.

Eight o'clock. Secretary Hughes

Rescinding of Restrictions Have Salutory Effect in Places of Resort

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—No sooner had the German government rescinded the order by which German citizens who desire to leave the country on pleasure trips must pay a tax of 500 gold marks, than the tourist bureaus were again over run with prospective travelers. Denmark, Norway and Sweden are the countries now preferred while in spring Italy was the mecca of the Germans. Even Finland has developed into a "most favored nation."

ELIMINATION FOREST FIRES BY FIGHTERS

Government Protecting Vast Reserves By Fighters.

MEN ARE ON JOB

Wholesale Destruction Forecasts by "Red Enemy" May Be Prevented in the Future.

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The fierce forest fires that have been raging this summer, especially in California, bring to mind the great national disaster that occurred in August 1910.

Fourteen years ago this month, the United States was startled by stories of gigantic forest fires in the northwest and when on the morning of August 20, the telephone wires carried the story of a terrible conflagration driven by high winds the country was appalled, even though the extent of the disaster was not realized.

But within a few days the whole nation knew that the most destructive forest fires recorded in the history of the United States were being fought in the northwest and that northern Idaho and western Montana were the scenes of the fiercest battles with the "Red Enemy" of the Forests, ever fought by Uncle Sam's Forest rangers.

Conditions in the west this summer are again at the highly dangerous point, and officials of the Forest Service are anxious. At the end of July 150,000 acres of land inside the boundaries of the National Forests in California alone had been fire-swept, the worst fires ever experienced this early in the season. Large fires have also burned in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. The Forest Service is on the alert. Men and equipment have been mobilized at strategic points. The battle with the "Red Enemy" is on in earnest. Human lives and public and private property are at stake in this relentless war.

Who will win? With the cooperation of the public to prevent uncaused forest fires, which now form 80 per cent of the total, the Forest Service believes that it has a good chance to cope successfully with its dangerous foe particularly if nature will refrain from causing hurricanes and give the drought-stricken areas some relief and that there will not be a repetition of the 1910 disaster.

Before the flames died away that year over 4,000,000 acres of national forest land was laid waste. The timber destroyed totaled over six billion board feet, and the money loss for standing timber only stood at $21,000,000. These figures do not take into account the losses on privately owned forest land. Human life was also lost in the great 1910 fires. A total of 78 men perished in the battle with the flames.

The entire summer of 1910 was marked by severe droughts in most of the west. The winter snowfall and spring rains were unusually light, so that with the coming of summer the supply of surface moisture rapidly dried away and an abnormal and steadily increasing number of fires followed. Steady high winds were combined with almost complete failure of the light summer rainfall, and by the middle of August the Forest Service was straining every resource to hold in check the multiplying fires.

Then on August 20 in northern Idaho a heavy wind developed into a hurricane. It was so powerful that men were unable to remain in their saddles. Smoldering fires were fanned into action and swept beyond control. Within 21 hours there was practically a continuous fire along a battle front of over 100 miles in length.

Early in September the fires were subdued. If it had not been for the hard work of the forest officers the losses of public and private property would have been many times what they were, and were very probably many more lives would have been lost.

JAPS PROTESTING AMERICANIZATION

Leader Says Americanism Is Poisonous—England Is Better Example.

Associated Press.

TOKIO, Aug. 21.—An article in the new-paper Kokumin, written by Kuroki Chikuma, one of the most outspoken leaders of the movement to separate the native Christian churches of Japan from the American missionary bodies, urges the Japanese to "get away from the Americanization which has been infecting our national life for the last five years."

Chikuma, himself a Christian, has for several years worked as an independent missionary without American help. He has been one of the leaders of the popular protest against the American humilation act excluding Japanese.

Referring to the agitation for the boycott of American goods, Chikuma writes: "The American way of living, the American civilization, is more poisonous than anything else manufactured in the United States. Few Japanese are aware of the extent to which our country has become Americanized."

Our newspaper advertisements are in the American style. The sensational tone of our journals with their headlines is nothing but an Americanism. In these matters the British way is far superior to the American. Our papers should follow the example of such moderate, respectable journals as the London Times and the Manchester Guardian.

"The so-called cultural movement which has been going on in Japan for the past four or five years has been nothing but a process of Americanization. When Japan dispenses with the American way of living she will easily and without inconvenience be able to dispense with American goods."

BONES OF CAMEL IN DRY LAKE BED

Fifteen Species Mammal Recovered From Lake Bed In Kansas Recently.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Aug. 21.—Half a ton of fossil bones, all of them new for the University of Kansas museum and some of them new to science, have been discovered in Sherman county, Kansas, according to H. T. Martin, curator of the University's museum. Mr. Martin and Crutis Hesse, laboratory assistant, spent four weeks this summer near Goodland, Kans., and shoveled more than 100 tons of sand in uncovering the fossils.

"Parts of at least fifteen species of mammals were recovered," said Mr. Martin. "These included three species of camels, one as large as a small giraffe, the smallest size of a sheep, two species of rhinoceros, three species of 3-toed horse, dog, cat, peccary, deer and three species of mastodons."

"The fossils were found in a formation that apparently had once been a small lake bed, some 300 feet square, and several feet under ground, making it necessary to use a plow and scraper to get down to the fossil-bearing sands."

"The bones, which are of a jet black were found scattered over the entire space, but parts of bones that we sometimes found widely separated fitted together perfectly."

"Apparently," said Mr. Martin, "these bones were distributed by freezing, either through ice on the lake or a glacier. That is the only way I can explain the sharply broken bones and their distribution. No complete skeletons were found."

"We are highly pleased with the results of the trip, for it will add greatly to the scientific knowledge of the animals that once roamed western Kansas."

UTILITIES MEN ON BIG PICNIC

Three Special Cars Carry More Than 200 to Kentucky River Beach.

Associated Press.
 LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 21.—The men who keep things moving about town, with some of the ones who do most to keep things cool in Lexington and others, whose duty it is to brighten up the homes of the citizens and the streets of the city, snatched Tuesday from the year's routine and with families and their friends enjoyed a brief outing on the Kentucky river.

Official count by Roy Eades, one of the men in charge yesterday, showed that 229 persons attended the first of a series of four picnics which the Kentucky Traction and Terminal Company Relief Association arranged for the employees of the three allied concerns, the traction company, Lexington Ice Company and Lexington Power Company. The number included a large number of small children of the employees, who were led in a series of games by W. J. Sanford, Jr., superintendent of Lexington playgrounds.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a caravan of three special interurban cars followed the regular Frankfort car out of Lexington carrying the picnicers. The holiday spirit of the day was expressed even in the attitude of the three motormen, L. S. Price, Joe Speakes and Roy Carr, who volunteered to chauffeur the cars, in spite of it being their day off. Without uniforms and with cigarettes or cigars in their mouths the three motormen had a big time driving across the country to the point where the Kentucky river passes by the state capitol.

At Frankfort the party boarded the "Summer Girl," picnic barge, which carried it eight miles up the river to the beach at Camp Boone's. The landing here was made shortly before 12 o'clock. After landing at the beach separate parties of the crowd found convenient lunching grounds in a large wooded field on a high bank above the beach. The men of the party rigged a dressing room for the ladies out of a tarpaulin and two poles and a number spent a good portion of the day in the water.

COOL WEATHER NOW DAMAGING

Corn Retarded by Cool Nights—Crops, Generally, in Good Condition.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 21.—Temperatures were below normal the entire week, the cool nights especially checking growth, although ample sunshine and moderately high temperature in the daytime have partly offset this effect.

Moderate showers occurred at the end of the week over the eastern and central portions of the state, including the central and southern Bluegrass region and the upper Kentucky and Licking valleys, but the rains were too light to be of much benefit over the remainder of the state, and rains are badly needed in a wide area paralleling the Green River and in the northern counties. The timely rains in the central districts relieved the situation in many dry districts, and tobacco and corn are growing better since the rain. Early tobacco is spreading better and is making steady progress, and the condition of late tobacco is improved, but a large amount of late tobacco is so small and uneven that it cannot make a full crop.

Growth of corn was retarded by the cool nights. It needs continued warm weather to mature properly, especially in the case of late corn, a large part of which will not tassel for one or two weeks yet in northern districts. Persistent cool weather is seriously delaying the growth of this crop. The continued low temperature is especially significant in its influence because the bulk of the crop is so late. Alfalfa is generally good, the third crop making good growth, clover is fair, but needs rain. Cowpeas and soybeans are in fine condition. Pastures are getting short and both pastures and gardens are drying up in many sections of the state for lack of rain. Excellent progress has been made with the threshing which is nearly completed. Late potatoes are growing rather slowly.

SYCAMORE BLIGHT SEVERE THIS YEAR

Ornamental Shade Trees Attacked By Blight—Remedy Is Suggested.

Sycamore trees this spring and early summer were especially hard hit by a blight, commonly known as sycamore blight, in many states east of the Mississippi river, notably Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, and Indiana. The disease affects not only the common sycamore, or buttonwood, but also the Oriental Plane tree.

The blight injures the newly developed leaves and the young shoots. The new leaves just unfolding from the bud suddenly wither, become discolored, and finally blacken, giving the appearance of injury by frost. On the older leaves the disease appears as brown blotches of spots, of irregular shape, usually along the veins. In severe cases the leaves fall, but

Hunger Arouses Primitive Instinct in Zoo Animals

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.—A large female dog, dispossessed of her puppies is the best friend of Sol Stephen, curator of the Cincinnati Zoological Garden. She is used quite frequently to nurture the younger members of the cat family who have been cast aside by their natural mothers.

Several of the jungle cats which inhabit the zoo have had a female dog as their adopted mother. To look at them, however, one would suspect that they had been brought up by "foster" parents, and Mr. Stephen asserted he would not be able to tell if it was not for the fact that he brought the female dog to them.

His strong and healthful these cats, the offspring of ferocious jungle animals, are complacent in their new environment until feeding time. They are aware of this hour and make their demands known in deep penetrating roars. The majority of the younger cats have been nursed by a mother dog, but they are not as tractable and decorous as the mother dog would have them to be. As soon as they are able to pull their bodies around a new crop usually is produced later in the summer. Continued defoliation in successive years, and the severe dying back of the twigs eventually cause the death of the tree.

As in the case of most tree diseases, methods of controlling the blight are rather expensive and usually somewhat difficult to carry out. The value of the tree, however, for shade or ornamental purposes may possibly warrant the expense and trouble. As a first step in controlling the disease, the infected twigs should be carefully removed by pruning well back of the infected portion. All of these twigs, together with any fallen leaves and twigs, should be carefully collected and burned. They should not be thrown onto the rubbish heap, since that is often one of the most favorable places for the fungus of ruin. Its spores may then be carried to healthy trees, which may thus become infected. After all the infected twigs are cut away the remainder of the tree should be sprayed with Bordeaux mixture in the proportions 4-1-50. A second or third application of a weaker solution of Bordeaux mixture may be necessary before mid-summer to protect the new foliage. Again, in the autumn, it is advisable to rake up and burn all fallen leaves and twigs, since this tends to prevent the spread of any disease which may be present upon them.

RIVER TRAFFIC RECEIVING AID

Artificial Waves Stimulate Traffic On Ohio River—Low Water Prevails.

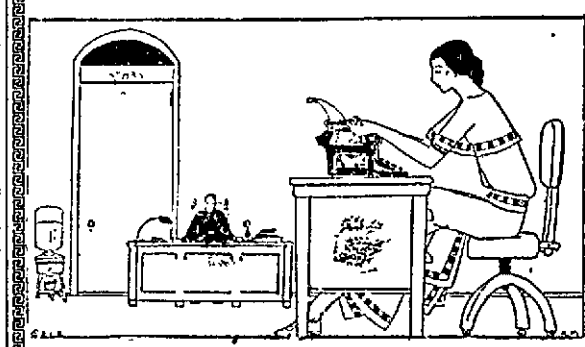

Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 21.—Floating lazily on the crest of artificial waves, river craft in the down-stream traffic in the Ohio river are being expedited on their journey when otherwise they might be tied up because of low water.

The manipulation of wickers in the up-stream dams, U. S. Engineers in charge of river work in the Ohio river are creating waves artificially, giving the vessels a draft that otherwise would not be available. The first wave of the season, created artificially at the Portsmouth, Ohio, lock and dam, carried on its crest several large tows, some destined for Cincinnati, some for Louisville and still others for Florence, Alabama. The tows for Louisville made the trip from Portsmouth, 215 miles, in approximately sixty hours. Engineers in the office here had estimated that the wave would travel three or four miles an hour.

The waves are created to give sufficient draft for vessels in the down-stream traffic pending completion of the work on navigation

It Happens Every Day

When the best stenographer you ever had up and leaves you because her folks are moving out of the city—

And you try a girl that one of your business friends had to pay off and you find out why he had to do it, because she can't get dictation straight and sends off letters to the wrong addresses—

And you try another girl that somebody else recommended and she turns out to be a member of the leisure class—

And, finally, when you can almost feel your business going to rack and ruin because there isn't anybody who knows how to attend to the details, you decide to try a Help Wanted ad in the Daily News—

And the next day you have a dozen capable-looking applicants and you pick out a neat and intelligent girl, almost like the perfect one who left, and she starts things running smoothly again—

locks and dams in the river. The Ohio has been unusually low for the last three years, officials said. All the authorized projects will be under construction by the end of the year, Col. G. R. Lukesh, Engineer Corps, U. S. A., said today, adding that the work already under way is progressing very well. Discussing the various projects, Col. Lukesh said that Lock No. 4, at Leavenworth, Ind., will be completed this year. No. 45 at Addison, Ky., should be completed by next year, he said, and work is progressing on No. 46, Owensboro, Ky., No. 47 at Newburg, No. 50 at Ford's Ferry, and No. 52, below Paducah. No. 48 is a completed lock and dam. New Lock No. 51 at Galesburg, Ill., and No. 53 at Grand Chain, Ill.

TO ROBERT BROWNING

A Japanese Appreciation
(By Yone Noguchi)

You are a smoking room story teller of the pageant of life seen by senses.
You gusto in speech turns your art into obscurity.
Again from the obscurity into a valedictorian.
You are a provincialism endorsed by eccentric pride.
You are sometimes riotous to escape from an archaism.
Your great thirst for expression makes you a soul-wounding romantic.
You often play the mystic, and appear cruel.
You are a glutton of colorful adventures.
You are a troubadour serenading between the stars and life.
Your love song, on a minor, tortures us even physically.
You are a realist who under the darkness purifies himself into the light of optimism.
You are a griffin wildly dancing on human laughter.

PARTY EXPLORES SOLDIER'S CAVE

Local People Delighted With Grotesque Interior Natural Cave

Yesterday afternoon a party composed of Misses Frances Lutzpatrick, Margaret Davis, Mary Yeager, Thelma Fitzpatrick and F. S. Lutz, explored a part of Soldier's Cave.

This was the first time the most of the party had ever been in this cave and in fact in any limestone cave, and the amazingly intricate and fanciful rock shapes formed in the corners of millions of years by the quiet but none the less effective forces of nature working through the medium of percolating water containing chemicals that dissolve the solid parts of the limestone and depositing a part of the dissolved material in places that in forms that excite the admiration and wonder of all who view them.

After an hour spent in the cave, a picnic lunch was eaten in the cave and then the party returned to the hotel. The party was very much interested in the grotesque shapes of the stalactites, stalagmites, columns and other rock formations and rooms in this cave, and a party of Boy Scouts will probably explore a part of this cave Saturday and Sunday night of this week.

This cave is a part of the proposed site for the Lincoln National Park and was one of the attractions which most favorably impressed Mr. Kellogg, member of the park commission, when he was here recently.

JACKIE COOGAN IN NEW FILM

ing. Jackie Coogan's story is a different from Tom Sawyer. The latter is different from Oliver Twist.

Story Closely Followed Little's medium in this his second Metro picture is "A Boy of Flanders." A Boy of Flanders, and the adoption has been made with the greatest skill. The story is reproduced on the screen with a fidelity rarely to be of credit in a single episode of sentimental dramatic comedy pathos or thrill is missing. While the climax in the snow storm that sweeps over Flanders fields and takes the little lad's life is one of the most poignant and gripping that has ever been Never has Jackie appeared more effectively, and it is safe to say that in "A Boy of Flanders." As such a tragic hero never before portrayed in any Jackie Coogan picture while the comedy touches and humor of which his art is capable, is a carefully provided through out the entire story.

All the emotions found in Ouida's too short story have been developed into the flowering of a great drama, and only in the adjustment of the slightest departure from the original and who could fault to see "A Boy of Flanders" if the hero should die out in the cold and the snow with his dead companion the poor heeded dog, Yello, as his only solace? Such an ending would be too burlesque.
